The Lyndon Group to Provide Industry Insight and Financial Management Expertise at Upcoming Executive Seminar Series Event

Seminar Will Showcase The Lyndon Group as an Expert on the Financial Benefit of Lean Manufacturing Processes

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., Mar. 26, 2007—The Lyndon Group, LLC (LG), a premier accounting and financial management consulting firm for Fortune 500 and emerging growth companies, today announced its participation as a panelist for Parsec Automation Corporation's Real-Time Performance Management Executive Seminar on March 28, 2007 at the Microsoft Office in Los Angeles. Kenneth L. Jones, CPA and managing director for LG, will be a featured speaker providing insight from a financial management perspective on implementing a successful lean manufacturing process.

The event is the first of Parsec's Executive Seminar Series aimed at educating manufacturing companies about increasing asset utilization and driving competitive advantage using lean manufacturing solutions. As the first Certified Implementation Partner for Parsec's TrakSYS™ software with a foundation in financial management and information technology, LG brings to the event a unique added value by providing expertise based on real-world manufacturing experience coupled with sophisticated financial knowledge.

"Parsec is pleased to have Kenneth Jones as a guest speaker to provide manufacturers real-time financial insights, said Eddy Azad, CEO and president, Parsec Automation Corp. "TrakSYS' real-time performance software is a powerful lean manufacturing enabler that helps manufacturers to maximize asset productivity. The Lyndon Group is uniquely qualified to leverage the manufacturing intelligence provided by TrakSYS to deliver clear financial visibility for manufacturing operations."

"Developing a lean culture is essential for success in today's manufacturing arena," said Jones. "I'm honored to have an opportunity to share insights on the financial impact this can make for an organization and I look forward to helping manufacturers attending the event to make technology choices that marry well with their growth and financial goals."

Recognized for its exceptional business solutions and customer service, LG provides US-based and international companies with consulting services including Sarbanes-Oxley compliance and SEC reporting, project management, due diligence, sophisticated accounting assistance and IT support. LG became the first Certified Implementation Partner for Parsec's TrakSys™ software in Southern California last December—a partnership which has allowed LG and Parsec to offer their manufacturing clients the competitive advantage of combined expertise in financial and IT management with strong software support.

The Real-Time Performance Management Executive Seminar will take place March 28, 2007, from 11:00 a.m. through 1:30 p.m. at the Microsoft Office, 333 S. Grand Ave. #3300, Los Angeles, Calif. The event will also showcase industry experts from Parsec and California Manufacturing Technology Consulting (CMTC).
